

MAPLE The daily charm

Tracklist:

1. It's the time of your life
  2. Once I found you
  3. For you
  4. On the bright side
  5. Hamburgo
  6. Inside
  7. The daily charm
  8. Aroma
  9. Over
  10. Arrepentida y sola (club remix)
- (+Bonus video «Hamburgo»)

Selling points:

- . Recorded by Santi Garcia at Ultramarinos Costa Brava Studio
- . Fourth recording by the band after the EP "Rebecca believes" (99), the split "Oceane" (01) and the single "Schematic" (02)
- . They've toured Europe twice and play often around Spain since 1998
- . With members of Uziel (hardcore-metal) and ex-members of Happy Meals (melodic hardcore)

There are events that make you recover the faith in music as a creative thing; watching a band growing up in composition is something great, as it proves that behind the instruments there are human beings expressing themselves artistically. People that learn from themselves, being able to put their restlessness into music. "The Daily Charm" represents a big step forward for a band that used to play good songs and now makes true jewels with a sensitive charge not that easy to find elsewhere, even in a wide Europe which they have toured twice. Maple used to be a good band; now they are a magic combo, a band able to charm, to touch you there, that makes you relax and move you at the same time. Songs like "The daily charm", "Over" or "Once I found you" are like caresses in your ear, that go through your ear-drum, stick into your brain and touch every nervous termination. And you know that's so hard to get. And if the EP "Rebecca believes" was a fresh and full-of-life debut, the split "Oceane" a good beginning of self-knowledge and the 7" "Schematic" a too-small recipient for such big songs, "The daily charm" is an absolutely brilliant record; the record that we're sure Maple wanted -and had- to do so we could put them in the good place they deserve.

Artist: Maple
Title: The daily charm
Label: Bcore
Ref: BC. 101
Formats: CD
Price:
Style: emo-pop/indie pop
Release date:
Barcode: 8435015505615